

This is a discussion on rust with the new mailboxes. They seem to rust easily and quickly...the metal paper holder holes, base and associated metal hardware. It is nothing that a good can of black rustoleum can't maintain, but I have already had to spray, and see that others are beginning to rust from my walk around the neighborhood.

Just FYI it WILL affect the numbers on the side of the paper holder...eventually. Two or three coats prior to putting on the letters might do the trick for several years.
